

IEEE CTS March 2020 Newsletter

Message from the Chairman

February was a good and active month for the Central Texas Section as we started operations for the 2020 calendar year. Watch the Analog and the mid-month Newsletter for notices of meetings to come although they can be viewed on vTools Events at your leisure. There were three meetings I would like to highlight: We enjoyed an Electron Devices Society Distinguished Lecturer presentation on Flexible Electronics and their place in the world to come. The UT Graduate Student Chapter had a tech talk from Cirrus Logic. And finally - The combined Women in Engineering, Technical Engineering Management, Young Professionals and Education Society [Whew...] had a social event with candidates for the US Congress, Julie Oliver and Wendy Davis. This included an opportunity for questions about the candidates' positions on R&D funding, science and engineering education, ethics and more, and a discussion of the role of social media in elections. Joseph Kopser answered questions about US Tomorrow, a non-profit dedicated to promoting civic engagement and education.

A. 2020 Highlighted Events

The Central Texas Section is building a program of excellent events into the Spring of 2020. In this message I intend to highlight a few of these for your consideration. Pay attention to this and the mid-month Newsletter as more events are being booked each week.

B. IEEE PI2 AUSTIN, MARCH 2020 WORKSHOP ON ENERGY STORAGE

Ben Hur Shrine Ballroom, March 18th: <https://events.vtools.ieee.org/m/221515>

This one-day workshop includes expert presentations by David Hood, on battery technologies, applications, and sizing considerations, by Daniel Youngs, on lithium ion storage back-up, and by Thomas Domitrovich, P.E. an industry expert on the National Electrical Code with respect to battery installations. The Energy Storage Workshop is ideal for industry professionals with responsibilities of designing and installing battery systems within industrial and commercial projects.

C. EMC

The Electromagnetic Compatibility Society will have a meeting featuring Garth D'Abreu of ETS-Lindgren discussing "Automotive Advanced Driver Assistance Systems (ADAS) Testing" and an "Ask the Experts" panel ETS-Lindgren, 10 March at 6:00PM: _https://events.vtools.ieee.org/m/224174

D. LEADERSHIP IMPROVMENT EVENT:

An IEEE Event, brought to you by the combined IEEE Young Professionals, Women in Engineering, Technology and Engineering Management Society and Education Society: Learn how to communicate more effectively in a fun workshop, using techniques from improv and scenarios from the tech industry.

Cirrus Logic: 16 March 6:00PM: <https://events.vtools.ieee.org/m/218643>

Membership Development

Not an IEEE member and have been waiting to join?

Join now with ½ year dues! Join IEEE and receive 10 months of membership for the price of six. If you have been away from IEEE for more than a year, you can re-join for half price! www.ieee.org/join

Have you renewed your IEEE membership for 2020?

It is easy to forget and easy to put off. If you haven't renewed your IEEE membership, or don't know if you have, go to your IEEE account NOW and check at www.ieee.org or call 800 678-4333.

Beginning this past week, non-renewing IEEE members lost all member benefits. Renew now and restore your IEEE benefits and don't miss out on the CTS and LSS events coming up in the Austin and San Antonio areas.

If you have already renewed, thank you for being part of the Central Texas Section and the IEEE, the world's largest technical professional association.

Did you know about IEEE – E-Books from IEEE Press?

The IEEE Press has partnered with John Wiley, Inc. to provide 240+ books, which are available to member at no additional cost. The e-book collection spans a number of today's technologies across 19 content areas, and include:

Practical handbooks
Introductory and advanced texts
Reference works
Professional books

IEEE is committed to serve the needs of practicing engineers and members from industry. The value of this benefit grows ever year the member renews. IEEE Press will be adding 40-50 books annually.

Access your E-Books by logging on to IEEE Xplore (<http://www.ieeexplore.ieee.org>) using your IEEE account. Select Books and you begin browsing.
